

UN Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Asia and the Pacific

...strengthening peace and security through disarmament

UN Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Asia and the Pacific (UNRCPD) assists countries in the Asia and Pacific region in achieving their peace, security and disarmament goals, through provision of substantive support; coordination of activities at the subregional, regional and international levels; and information sharing on global and regional activities.

UNRCPD works in close partnership with regional and sub-regional organisations, as well as with other United Nations entities and civil society organisations. The Centre focuses its activities in three main areas: providing capacity building and technical assistance, creating and participating in dialogue fora, and engaging in outreach and advocacy on disarmament issues.

“ UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon
'I would like to call on all Asia-Pacific States to work closely with the Regional Centre in strengthening the capacity of governments and civil society to achieve disarmament goals.' **”
Message for the opening of the Centre in Kathmandu, August 2008

R. Shrestha, Winner 2013 Art for Peace Competition

The Centre is mandated to provide, on request, substantive support for initiatives and other activities, mutually agreed upon by the Member States of the Asia-Pacific region, for the implementation of measures for peace and disarmament, and to coordinate the implementation of regional activities in Asia and the Pacific. (UNGA Resolution A/42/39D) The United Nations Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament became operational in 1989 and was relocated from New York to Kathmandu, Nepal, in August 2008. UNRCPD is part of the United Nations Office for Disarmament Affairs.
